Instructors

Lorraine Struyk has been involved with Naramata and the Healing Pathway Society as a practitioner and instructor since 1993. She has integrated her Healing Pathway work with her background as a physiotherapist and extensive work in palliative care. She shares her gifts with compassion and an open heart as a member of the Dunbar Ryerson United Church. She is passionate about the work and the realm of possibilities it brings for each of us.

Jan Miko has been involved as a Healing Pathway student/practitioner for a decade and is excited about being a teacher-in-training. She has a Master of Education degree and was a Vancouver principal. She is an active member of Dunbar/Ryerson Healing Ministries and welcomes the many possibilities that await the combined faith communities. Her enthusiasm of the Pathway Program is always rekindled when experiencing and observing the grace, mercy and healing energy of the Holy.
